

Meet Orit, fearlessly authentic and always with a smile. A proud mother and business woman, she believes in always being the energy you wish to attract.

Orit has been in the business development field for over 30 years. With an extensive background in product development, she wanted to create a product that would truly attain one's needs, as a result Mennä One was born. The idea came from always thriving to have the right balance in one's life. With balance comes flexibility and that's what Mennä brings to the table.

Orit's visionary ideas in the world of hydration are what sets her apart from others.
